Invitation- CEUTEH 2015

With the emergence of Emergency Medicine as a distinct specialty, Emergency Department (ED) is today being recognized as one of the most crucial and also one of the most difficult pieces of the emergency healthcare delivery puzzle.

Progressive Emergency Department leaders and practitioners across the country have been working towards introducing structural changes and processes to transform their Emergency Departments into an integrated end-to-end acute care service delivery organization.

Clinical Process Automation and Information Technology has great potential in providing foundation and accelerating this transformation of Emergency Departments by introducing evidence-based best practices and also dramatically reducing cost of delivery.

On behalf of CEUTEH 2015 organizing committee, we welcome you to the capital city of India for an academic feast on the latest advances and best practices in emergency healthcare along with workshops on REAP, AUTLS and Personality Development, Communication & Presentation skills.
