Message From Vice Chancellor

"I believe that apart from giving empowerment in terms of knowledge and skills, education does give us more than this. We believe that becoming bookworm is not education, it is more important to put into practices at least a fraction of what you have learnt."

Dear friends and colleagues,

I am glad that TEAMS is completing 8 years since its inception in 2008. I take this opportunity to recollect the good memories of INDUSEM, INDO-US collaboration for developing the science of academic Emergency Medicine in our soil. It all started with a small group of young ignited minds from AIIMS, New Delhi & University of South Florida in the year 2005 who decided to develop the science of Emergency Medicine in India. Later this seed was taken across the country in the name INDO-US Academic Council for Emergency Medicine (INDO-US ACET) in the year 2006 where likeminded people who are passionate about Emergency Medicine met at New Delhi and structured a pathway to give birth, nurture and develop this science of EM in their respective institution.

This collaboration gave birth to various initiatives like EMTECH, the training wing of INDUSEM in 2007 which conducted the Summer Research School in New Delhi, NIH Fogarty Clinical Research Methods at Ahmadabad, Emergency Sonography School at AIIMS, New Delhi, Medical Response to Mass Casualty Management (MRMCM) training programme across India in New Delhi, Pune and Baroda etc since 2010 and many more to come. TEAMS the official News letter & JETS the official journal which is an international publication of INDOUS ACET were born in the year 2008. INDUS-ARCH the research wing of INDUSEM was born in the year 2009. The ACET leadership team was invited to Tampa General Hospital, Florida USA in 2009 with the mission to learn the system of practice of Emergency Medicine which gave us a foresight as we start developing this science in India.

The big success came again in the year 2009 when Medical Council of India recognized Emergency Medicine under Broad Specialty and initiate the MD (Emergency Medicine) programme across medical schools in India. Academic College of Emergency Experts & Academic College of Emergency Nursing was born in the year 2011 to foster academic trainers parallel among doctors and nurses. INDOUS EM SUMMIT went across the country since 2007 to various places like Mumbai, Mangalore, Coimbatore, Baroda, back in New Delhi in 2011.

This mega event succeeded in developing the science of Emergency Medicine as an academic discipline, groomed leaders and academicians among various medical schools with the focus of creating Emergency Departments in every medical school which is the base to start the residency program. Though we have come a long way but we need to go miles before we sleep, dream comes true only when we have fully structured and functional Emergency Departments with skilled man power where we can save lives thereby reducing the morbidity & mortality because every Quality & Productive life saved will have a positive impact on our economy.

We welcome the youngsters to join this movement and foster this science of Emergency Medicine.

Let the mission continue.....

INDUSEM-EMA Leader leads International Disaster Congress

EMA Leader Dr. Ajith V. of the Department of Emergency Medicine of M.O.S.C Medical College Hospital along with the MOSC College of Nursing in collaboration with Kerala State Disaster Management Authority (KSDMA) organized The International Conference on Disaster Preparedness and Emergency Management from 4th to 6th of January, 2017. The goal of this conference was to provide a broad overview of the disaster preparedness from multiple perspectives- at international, national and local levels. Faculty from various disciplines shared a vast variety of information during the conference. Speakers included a large number of experts both international and national – in the fields of medicine, nursing, public health, nuclear physics, geology, social work and several others.

EMA Conducts Inaugural UG Quiz on EM @ Delhi

The Emergency Medicine Association in partnership with The Department of Emergency Medicine at AIIMS, New Delhi successfully conducted the Inaugural Undergraduate Quiz on Emergency Medicine called EM-IQ (Interactive Quiz). EM-IQ is slated to be an annual event and is a unique academic activity for MBBS students and interns studying in various medical colleges. Conducted for the first time, a total of 32 teams from 6 colleges participated in the event, giving it a Pan-Delhi flavour.
